2017 MEDIA KIT

Creating My Happiness got off to a slow start in 2014 as a way to keep in touch with distant family. Since transitioning to a family lifestyle blog in January 2015 I have built a loyal readership of women who would rather be happy than perfect.

ABOUT OUR READERS

Creating My Happiness readers are typically mothers who are looking for ways to make their lives a little easier. Approximately 85% of readers are from the US, with the remainder being made up primarily of other English speaking countries.
